

Dear 17th Annual African American Fellowship Attendees,

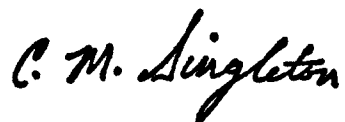

It is our blessing to welcome you to this annual fellowship conference being held in the host city of DeSoto, Texas. We pray that this conference will be a blessing as well as a benefit to each of you as you attend each worship and workshop planned for your enrichment and empowerment.

We want to express our appreciation to the host pastor, Rev. Oscar Epps and the Community Baptist Church for their work and diligence in preparing for our coming to their city and church. We have tried to coordinate a variety of workshops with well informed facilitators that will give you cutting edge, yet practical ideas and information to implement into your ministries. Though we try to offer pertinent information, your suggestions are important so that we can meet your needs and ensure that we do not overlook or minimize your concerns.

We thank the churches who are consistent in their support to the BGCT Cooperative Program and those who have increased their gifts. We know that for many, the economic situations are having an impact and we thank you for your continued progress in supporting the mission and ministries of the convention. It is more than can be numbered and/or mentioned what is being done through BGCT because of your gifts.

“But as it is written, eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man”, what God can do when we work together because, “Together we can do more.”

Be Blessed,
